

JOIN THE EFIND STUDY

The Oregon Center for Aging and Technology (ORCATECH) is recruiting participants for a research study to examine how financial behaviors change with age. The goal of the study is to discover the relationships between financial behaviors and cognitive health.

PARTICIPATION IN THE STUDY INCLUDES:

- Two visits to your home
- 12 months of free financial monitoring
- Completion of two study questionnaires

As a participant you will receive a personal financial monitoring service that was designed especially for older adults. EverSafe, the technology company that will be providing financial monitoring, will send you alerts if they detect any significant unusual activity in your accounts. Neither EverSafe nor OHSU has access or the ability to move your money, but OHSU will receive information about alerts generated for you.

IRB# 19404 | PI: Dr. Kathy Wild, Ph.D.

YOU MAY BE ELIGIBLE IF YOU:

- Are already participating in an ORCATECH project
- Have online access to your banking, investment, or other financial accounts

For more information,
please contact the study
coordinator

Jennifer Marcoe
Email: marcoej@ohsu.edu
Phone: 503-928-7292

The study is sponsored by the National Institute on Aging and is a collaboration between ORCATECH, Eversafe and the University of Pennsylvania.